SECTION III

PROJECT INFORMATION

MEMORENDUM

1. About Haliyal Fort

It was built during the reign of the Kadamba Dynasty that ruled large parts of the present-day Karnataka State. It is also known as Shivaji Fort, as it was once occupied by Chhatrapati Shivaji. All that remains of the great legacy of Haliyal Fort today are its ruins.

The fort is located in the town of Haliyal that is situated at a distance of about 36 km from Dharwad and around 78 km from Belgaum.

2. Accessibility

Coordinates: 15°20'4" N 74°45'14" E

The fort is located in the town of Haliyal, in Uttara Kannada District of Karnataka. The town is well connected by air, rail and road to various major cities and other tourist destinations.

Air

Haliyal is a small town that has no airport of its own. The nearest airport is located at Hubli (50 kms). The Hubli airport operates flights to Bangalore and Mumbai.

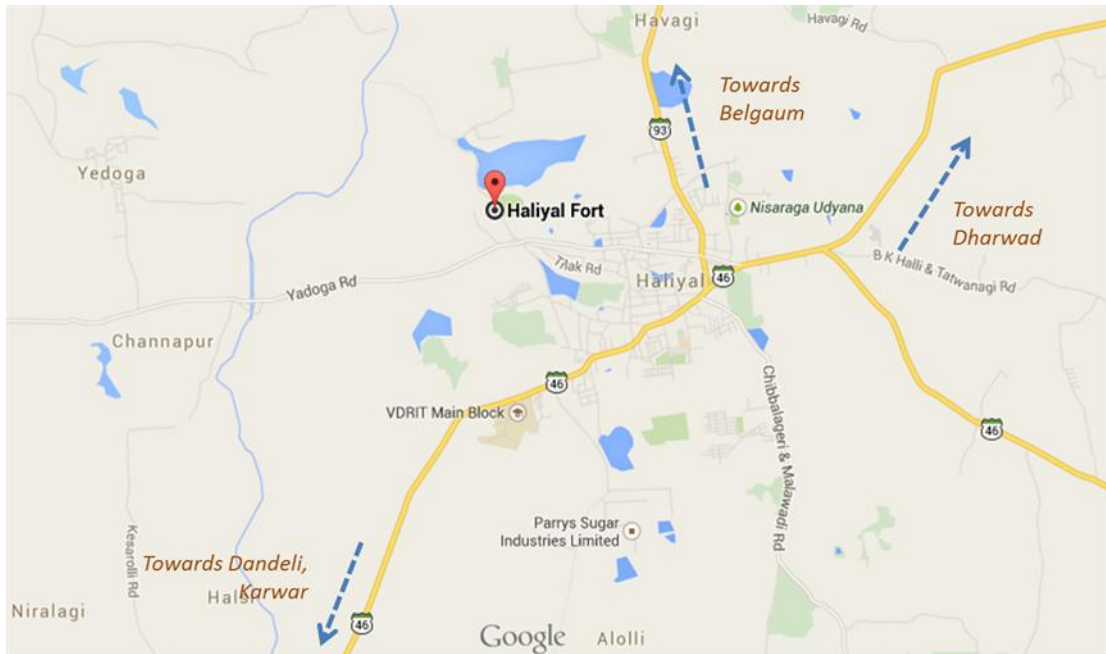

Rail

Haliyal is not directly connected by the rail network. Nearest Railway Stations are in Belgaum (49 kms) and Hubli (58 kms). Both these stations are connected to major towns and cities across Karnataka and the nearby states, which are further connected to Mumbai, Bangalore, Goa, etc.

Road

There are a number of buses that are available from several places like Bangalore, Goa, Mumbai, Belgaum, Dharwad and other nearby towns and cities for reaching Haliyal. North Western Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC) buses and a few other private buses offer bus connectivity with various nearby cities for Haliyal. The Fort itself is just 1.4 km from Haliyal Bus station.

Apart from the buses, local means of transport like taxis and hired vehicles are also available for reaching the Haliyal comfortably.

3. Accommodation and Travel

The Haliyal Fort area has no provision for providing accommodation to the visitors. However, there are decent places for accommodation in Karwar, Belgaum or Dharwad. A few hotels and inns that provide comfortable accommodation for guests are available at reasonable prices.

4. Aerial View of the Site

5. Existing Setting

The fort, spread over an area of approx. 25 acre, is currently under the management of the Forest Department. To the North of the Fort, lies the Someshwar Temple Lake. The road leading to Timmapura Village also passes through the Fort.

The fort walls are made of large boulders which stand about 25 to 30 feet tall. On the Main Entrance, a flag post has been installed on the ramparts, and the National Flag is hoisted on it on National Holidays.

Immediately after the entrance, on the right lies the Kille Nisarga Dhama – a Park developed by the Forest Department. On the left, are various offices for Forest Department, PWD Department, etc. Down the road, there is a Dargah and the famous Mallikarjuna Temple.

Haliyal Fort – Kille Nisarga Dhama

A 360° panorama view of the Park, the Kille Nisarga Dhama, is shown here

The Park has been developed on an area of approx. 15 acre and it depicts forests and village life in India. Various sculptures depicting villagers and animals are erected around the park, but are in a state of neglect.

The park also houses many slides for children and an information centre. Various relics of the erstwhile fort and the temple can be found in the park.

DESTINATION DEVELOPMENT

HALIYAL FORT, NISARGA DHAMA, UTTARA KANNADA

GOVERNMENT OF KARNATAKA & KTVG INITIATIVE

The site is a haven for bird-watchers as the lake attracts various species of birds. A bird-watching tower has been erected for this purpose. Presently, however, the park is in a very bad shape owing to poor maintenance.

Mallikarjuna Temple

The temple was constructed during the reign of the Kadamba Dynasty. Some additions were made around 50 years back, such as the front stone wall and the cement grill work bordering the terrace.
